Pablo Picasso: Quotes & Facts By Blago Kirov

This book is an anthology of 97 quotes from Pablo Picasso and 70 selected facts about Pablo Picasso. Pablo Picasso is recognized as the world's most prolific painter by the Guinness Book of World Records: during a career that lasted 78 years he produced an estimated 13,500 paintings or designs, 100,000 prints or engravings, 34,000 book illustrations and 300 sculptures or ceramics, making a total of 147,800 works of art. In 1905, Picasso met Henri Matisse who was a lifelong friend and rival. Between 1935 and 1959 Picasso wrote over 300 poems that were mostly untitled except for an occasional date and location of where it was written. Pablo Picasso had two wives - Olga and Jacqueline - and four children by three women. In 1927 Picasso met Marie-Thérèse Walter, a 17 year old who Picasso then lived with in a flat across the street from his marital home while still married to Olga. Artist model Fernande Olivier was Picasso's first long term relation and subject of many of Picasso's Rose Period paintings (1905-07). It was Marie-Thérèse Walter who was the inspiration for many of Picasso's famous Vollard Suite etchings. Picasso's work is divided into periods known as: the Blue Period (1901–1904), the Rose Period (1905–1907), the African-influenced Period (1908–1909), Analytic Cubism (1909–1912), and Synthetic Cubism (1912–1919). Pablo Picasso has had more auction sales than any other artist: as of May 1999 his works had been sold 3,595 times for a total worth of $1.23 billion. I don't paint what I see, I paint what I feel. It takes a long time to become young. There are only two types of women: goddesses and doormats. All that can be imagined is real. Give me the shoe, and I'll draw a person. What is art? If I knew, I would take good care not to reveal it. I do not seek, I find. Others have seen what is and asked why. I have seen what could be and asked why not. When I was at age twelve, I could draw like Raphael, but it took me a lifetime to learn to draw like a child. I do the impossible, because the possible anyone can do. Open your senses to not miss anything lovely and beautiful around you. Turn off the gray of your life and light the colors inside you.
